

Terms of usage are as follows:

By accessing our forum/website as a registered site member you must be at least 18 years of age.

By accessing our forum/website every single time you hereby agree to:

- Everything contained in this Terms of Usage policy.
- Not to use the material/content found on our forum/website for any purpose not intended by the site owner.
- Not to re-post or share on any other website/public platform posts or comments of site members without their permission.
- Only use the content on our Websites in accordance with all laws that may apply.
- Always be respectful of one another, as well as of the Church's hierarchy and Magisterium.
- Refrain from spamming any and all of our site members at any time.

All the material on our forum/website is copyright protected; including all web content, social media content, and blog content.

Mission/Purpose:

Trad Recovery was established to provide learning resources and community for those coming from various forms of Traditionalism and seeking full integration into the Catholic Church, including those in need of personal healing after suffering religious trauma and abuse in Traditionalist environments.

If you are using our forum/website, the visitor/member agrees not to use them to discriminate on the basis of race, ethnicity, gender, age, creed, religion, or any other legally protected class. Also, you agree not to use the information contained in our online material to misrepresent or harm TradRecovery.com, the administrators, owner(s), site members, or the Catholic Church.

To the extent that our website offers blogs, forum, comments, responses, or other similar user participation, you cannot advertise, solicit, bargain, or exchange money, goods, or services on our forum/website.

Harassment (this includes sexual harassment), threats, intimidation, bullying, and other negative content will also not be tolerated. We reserve the right to ban or remove any users that violate the policy as well as the laws of our country.

As staff is volunteers, they cannot monitor all participation and content related to our forum/website and one should not expect that these types of behaviors aren't going to occur from time to time. By using our forum/website you agree to assume all risk, including any interactions with other users (online or offline). We strongly suggest you take every precaution you can to protect yourself and your information. Please do not include private information that includes personal email addresses, home addresses, addresses of your employer, names of family members, personal phone numbers, social media/instant messaging, etc.) in any public areas of the forum/website. By voluntarily offering your personal information to other members, TradRecovery is not liable for any misuse of that information. If you believe anyone is violating or asking you to violate the terms of service, please reach out to a site administrator/volunteer immediately.

TradRecovery is not a professional counseling service. By using this website/forum you agree that TradRecovery is not liable for any events/occurrences that happen due to any advice that was expressed by volunteer staff or all members on this forum. Any advice provided on the TradRecovery forum is only intended to be general information for the members and for any visitors to this site and should never be considered as a substitute for or a contradiction of medical advice from your own medical professionals, that understand your full medical history much better than anyone else on the forum knows about you.

Any posts that recommend/advise a member or anyone in general not to use their medication as prescribed by a licensed physician or not to follow any advice given by another physician/mental health professional are prohibited.

Posts that attempt to diagnose any member or try to contradict/dispute a physician's diagnosis given to them are prohibited also.

If you are suicidal, please call 1-800-SUICIDE. (1-800-784-2433)

If posts are made involving any of the following, they will be removed immediately after being reported and your account will be banned:

- Please do not post anything condoning, suggesting, or promoting PAEDOPHILIA.
- Please do not post anything that advocates anorexia or bulimia.
- Please do not post anything that contains plans for, encouragement for or advocacy of suicide &/or acts of violence.

Reporting to the authorities:

If our staff has reasonable reasons to think that anybody could be at risk based on the information stored on the website, it reserves the right to report you to the authorities without you being notified.

For any questions related to these terms, please reach out through the contact details provided on the site.

Privacy Policy

The personal information you provide through site registration or the check-out process on our site will not be shared with any other party without your prior consent, or used for any other purpose than to contact you when necessary, related to your site activity, transactions, and any assistance you may require.